TELEGRAMS

(By Havas Agency)

Berlin, May 1st—The results of the "tie" election in Hanover known up to the present moment appear to show that the definite election of Bismarck is certain.

London, May 1st—Queen Victoria returned here to-day from Grasse.

STATISTICAL SUMMARY.

Having given yesterday a general summary of the events of the last 30 years we may make it more intelligible by a resumé of statistics.

In 1861 the population of the republic was approximately 1,350,000; at present it is estimated at 4,000,000. In the same interval the city has risen from 110,000 to 540,000 souls. The number of immigrants was 6,300 in 1861, and rose to 287,000 in 1889.

In 1861 the total area under agriculture was 480,000 acres or 120,000 cuadras. In 1884 it rose to 4,260,000, and the last estimates are about 7,000,000 acres. In 1861 the number of sheep was 16,000,000, the export of wool 51,000,000 lbs. In 1889 there were about 82,000,000 sheep, the export of wool reaching 312,000,000 lbs. In the same period the number of horned cattle rose from 10,100,000 to 18,200,000.

In 1861 the only railway was from Buenos Ayres to Merlo, 18 miles. In 1889 there were 5,020 miles in actual traffic and 6,010 in course of construction: at present there are about 7,000 miles in traffic. The telegraph service in 1861 was unknown: in 1884 there were 10,300 miles of telegraphic lines in the republic, and the length is to-day close on 20,000 miles, irrespective of the fact that we have telegrams daily from Europe, Brazil, Chile etc.

In 1861 the total foreign trade was $30,500,000, say £6,000,000 sterling. In 1889 it reached 294 millions currency, equivalent to £30,000,000 stg. In 1861 the wealth of the Republic was approximately $368,000,000 or 74 millions sterling; in 1884 it reached 376 millions sterling.

In 1861 the STANDARD was the only newspaper in the River Plate republics in any language but Spanish. At present there are 10 English, 3 French, 3 Italian, 2 German, between Buenos Ayres, Rosario and Montevideo.

In 1861 the Argentine revenue was $8,200,000, say £1,600,000 stg. In 1890 it was nearly 60 millions currency, or $5,000,000 stg.

The total debt of the Republic in 1861 was only £3,400,000 stg. In 1890 it amounted to £80,200,000, exclusive of Cedulas and paper-currency, which would raise the total to £122,700,000 stg.

In 1861 public instruction embraced about 35,000 school-children. In 1890 the number exceeded 180,000.

In 1861 there were only 2 steamers monthly between Europe and the River Plate. In 1890 there were 45 monthly each way.

In 1861 Buenos Ayres had no water-supply, drainage, tramways, telephones, city park, etc. There was no paving worth the name, and the gas-lights went no further than Calle Artes.

In a word the Argentine Republic in 1861 was in its infancy, and in spite of many drawbacks, abuses and errors the progress that it has made in 30 years surpasses anything accomplished in any other part of S. America, and is in many respects on a par with the advancement of Australia or Canada.

THE SITUATION.

The market appears to be growing wise, for, in spite of the general conviction that the Government will successfully carry through Congress its project of a "Unique Bank," the gold market, which is the unerring barometer of the situation, refuses to give any signs of radical improvement. Contrary to all expectations, the gold premium rushed to 256 % yesterday, say a rise of five points in 24 hours. We have on previous occasions mentioned that there are in this market a few heavy dealers who are intimately connected with a certain shade of politics and are sparing no effort to put up the price of gold. These parties are in the secrets of political "calisses," where a strenuous propaganda is being made to save certain banks by means of fresh issues of paper money, and they act accordingly, influencing a market where speculation is dead and the slightest operation of comparative importance bears an immediate impression on prices especially those of gold and stocks.

In the absence of any visible current, these speculators enter the market and manipulate prices at will. Thus, a speculator who enters the arena and sells half a million of gold dollars can shake the market to its foundation: whilst the dealer who walks in to buy half that amount can produce a panic for the rise. This peculiar state of speculative affairs must necessarily continue until public opinion be decided upon a certain course, for a rise or a fall. But public opinion, believing as it does in the success of the Unique Bank, still doubts, owing to the great opposition of the party of B. Ayres politicians and the under current that points to fresh paper issues. The people are still uncertain, and in this uncertainty speculators reap a harvest of margins, speculating on the doubts of the many and the utter helplessness of the market. Congress, however, will soon dispel the incognita and people will soon know how they stand, whether we are on the eve of banking reform or of a continuance of the old rotten banking system of successive paper issues.

The Provincial Bank is the key-note of the situation: that great banking culprit is the puzzle of the moment. In March 1890 it could not face the demands of depositors and resorted to illegal issues of paper money notwithstanding the fact that it had 120 or more millions of deposits of the working classes. In March this year it was again in straits and a patriotic loan of fifty millions was launched to save it. A month later the the banking culprit had to make another appeal for money and then the Government very wisely closed its doors, or suspended the payments to depositors, till at June next. The results we are witnessing: the private banks are receiving from 20 to 50 new accounts daily and the business of the State banks is at a standstill. The question at issue is—can the National Government so far forget its duties to the public as to authorize a fresh issue of paper money to save the Provincial Bank on June 1st, when depositors will again storm the bank for their deposits which have been frittered away in questionable loans for the last ten years?

We may rely upon it, the National Government will not authorise a fresh issue of paper, and the Provincial Bank, as well as the National Bank, must go into liquidation and be wound up. There is no excuse for the scandalous and chronic weakness of the Provincial Bank: we can excuse the National Bank, which was never a savings' bank of the working classes; it was a mighty speculative machine in the hands of the Government and of the shareholders. But the Provincial Bank has no excuse; it has deceived the public belief in its soundness and management; it has forfeited all claims to consideration, and stands to-day as a mighty shipwreck, occasioned by the recklessness of inefficient officers and an unruly crew.

We may remain assured that the terrible report on the management of the National Bank in 1890 is but a reflection of the management of all State banks in this country for the last three years. The State banks are doomed, and the Unique Bank proposed by President Pellegrini must take their place. This is the conviction of the market, yet gold refuses to fall; or can it be that the excellent effects of the creation of the Unique Bank are already discounted; that the new Unique Bank will merely prevent a further rise in gold and not prove a turning point in the market? We are beginning to fear that the Unique Bank will no doubt effect a great banking reform but will fail to improve the currency. It will prove an immense boon to the market; it may supply convertible notes and a sound basis for future business; but the old shinplasters will sink lower and lower. It looks as if the whole market is taking this view of the situation—at all events, the Unique Bank will be a great improvement, but the old paper dollar—well the less we say about it the better.

LONDON LETTER.

FINANCIAL.

(From our own Correspondent.)

April 4.

The death of Mr. Thomas Charles Baring, at the comparatively early age, for a financial worthy, of 59, the hero of the late Baring crisis, has naturally caused much regret, and at first a slight tremor in Argentines. The Daily Telegraph and one or two provincial journals distinctly attributed a heavy fall which occurred in Argentine securities to Mr. Baring's death. That is a mistake. It might have had some little effect, but the Stock Exchange was too well informed not to know that the deceased gentleman had by deed formally made over his fortune to the new firm for five years, and that even if the million or two millions sterling had been withdrawn, there were plenty of financiers ready to replace the capital. Besides, the Argentine and Uruguay bonds are in charge of the liquidators of the old house. The real causes of the fall in Argentines are naturally the defaults, and secondly the dull, not to say dead state of the London market in all speculative issues, and finally and chiefly the rise in the premium on gold at Buenos Ayres.

Mr. T. C. Baring had been indisposed for some time. He went with his wife and family to Rome for change, and there he died in consequence of a relapse following a surgical operation. So say the newspaper paragraphs, but I believe that like many others who go to Rome for the benefit of their healths, Mr. Baring died of typhus.

"The process of default in the Argentine Republic," says the Statist, "is going steadily on. After recapitulating all the defalcations from the closing of the banks and custom house to the failure of the present April coupons of the Province of Buenos Ayres and the Provincial Hypothecary Bank, your contemporary reminds us again of its own cleverness in foreseeing all these things and finally asks itself the familiar question, What is to be done? It recommends, seeing that Dr. Plaza's scheme of conversion and five per cent gold bonds is out of the question, and that the Province cannot attempt to pay in gold, you should not endeavour to make any estimate at present of what you can pay in the pound as a bankrupt concern, much less should you think of entering into any definitive agreement, but simply "fund the coupons." That seems to be the fashionable remedy as prescribed by the great medecine men of Lombard Street. If my tailor calls again I shall certainly tell him, if he repeats the visit, I shall fund my coupons. "The best way" says the Statist "would be to come to some arrangement with the National Government so that the latter should guarantee, if it did not assume, the debts and guarantees of the Province, receiving in return the Provincial Bank" (!)

You should know more of these matters than we do here and how far the advice of the London financial journal is good. That in the midst of a crisis, and, as the Statist says, with the gold premium rising once more to 267, pointing to a recurrence of panic and depression, it would be unwise to attempt any settlement of your financial difficulties, is at least a sensible view to take.

The following paragraphs are from the Financial News of 2nd inst.:—"Amidst the general default upon Argentine Provincial and Municipal Loans, it is quite refreshing to note that the coupon of the Six per Cent. Loan of the Province of San Juan, due yesterday, will be paid. The only other Province of the Argentine Republic which has so far remained solvent is that of Tucuman, the last coupon having been duly met. The question, of course, is how long this happy and exceptional state of solvency will continue. With regard to the other Provincial Loans now in default, notably those of Cordoba, Santa Fe and Entre Rios, we understand that the scheme for funding the interest, partly under a National guarantee, has been elaborated by Dr. N. de la Plaza, the Argentine financial representative, and is awaiting the sanction of the respective Provincial Governments. It is also announced that the Mortgage and Agricultural Bank of Santa Fe will pay the interest of its six per cent. bonds, Series "A," due April 1, as to 2.25f. in cash and 5.23f. in scrip of the Province of Santa Fe, to be exchanged against Five per Cent. Gold Bonds of the Province. The bonds of this bank are chiefly held on the Continent."

"The President of Uruguay, Herrera y Obes, probably likes to make things pleasant; but he went too far when he wrote a fulsome letter of thanks to the retiring Minister of Finance, Señor Alcides Montero. As the Montevideo Times points out, Señor Montero's six or seven months' career as Minister of Finance has not been a popular one, and the record which he has left behind him on his too tardy resignation has given anything but public satisfaction. His letter of resignation contains a tissue of false appreciations and misrepresentations with which few disinterested persons will be found to agree. Our contemporary points out that the fear of "curso forzoso" has not disappeared, confidence in the fulfilment of contracts has not returned, there is still a lively dread abroad that the debt service may be suspended, and the new taxes and duties which Señor Montero points to as a triumph of finance have not increased the revenue in the proportion expected, but have had a most deadly effect on commerce and industry. To accord extravagant praise to such a Minister of Finance was evidently a grave blunder on the part of the President. If the new Ministers are at all to fulfil public expectation, they will have to undo, as far as possible, the work of their predecessors."

OUR PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Paris, March 28, 1891.

Easter is bright and cold, with sudden showers of torrential rain and blinding snow-hail. The weather is expected, or better, hoped to "pick itself up" after the 31st, irrespective of new moons, almanac predictions, or scientific calculations. Indeed we have had a long and dreary winter.

Queen Victoria has been splendidly received, not only by the French authorities, but by the inhabitants of Grasse. If she does not feel herself at home there, she must be difficult to please. Grasse is a perfect nest-rest; protected from every unpleasant wind by barricade mountain spurs. The views are as numerous as they are charming; the air is bracing without being sharp as at Aix-les-Bains, or enervating as at Birraitz. The atmosphere is redolent with perfumes from the scent-farms, for this is the head centre of the preparation of perfumery, not from chemicals, but from odoriferous plants. It is through these farms visitors drive or walk, either Alp-wards or Mediterraneanwards. Should her Majesty indulge in a sail round the French and English squadrons anchored in the Gulf of Juan she would delight the French.

Already it is stated to be the intention of Queen Victoria to build a continental Osborne at Grasse. Rothschild is the leading proprietor in the townland; but three English perfumers have flower-farms in the locality. At Aix-les-Bains the inhabitants killed their chance by refusing to sell a ground site to Her Majesty to build a mansion, save at the price of building ground in the heart of London. That blunder will not be repeated at Grasse. At the latter Queen Victoria will be so close to Cannes, that head centre for the English in the Riviera, that she would be next to in the midst of her subjects. The cordial welcome extended to the Queen cannot but obliterate any unpleasant souvenirs that may remain connected with the visit of the Empress Frederick. It is a maladroit coincidence that the day Her Majesty landed in France should have been selected by the Russian Ambassador to present, in the most ostentatious manner, the Grand Cross of the Order of St. Andrew in the name of the Czar, to President Carnot. The Germans note the growing marks of esteem between the Republic and Holy Russia. However, the telegrams exchanged between M. Carnot and Her Majesty were so affectionate that Madame Carnot might ask for an explanation from her husband.

I never believed in the sincerity of the value of the Russian alliance to France. The latter has nothing to offer the Czar, even were he prepared to lend his bayonets to regain Alsace for France. Were he to move in any other direction he would cross the path of England—his best customer, and Russia could not exist independent of commercial relations with England. The latter purchases 25 millions sterling of Russian raw produce, while Russia imports but 5½ millions sterling of English out-puts; however, that represents more than the moiety of the total of Russian imports. Compared with these figures the trade relations of France with Russia are almost nil.

The Bishop of Angers, Monseigneur Freppel, has informed a German journal that the opinion he expressed in 1871 is the same in 1891, respecting relations between France and Germany. These can never become cordial till Alsace be restored. The intelligent and patriotic bishop, and one of the best "parliamentary men" in the Chamber, is too shrewd not to know that the Provinces can only be restored by the chances of war, terrible as the condition would be. Then locked up with that restoration is the desire of France to secure her former ascendency in Europe. A war then means either the gaining of the two ends or her subsidence, in all probability, into a second rate power. The suggestion to exchange Tonkin and Dahomey for Alsace, very many Frenchmen would be delighted to effect to-morrow. Even were Germany willing to surrender her coin of vantage for penetrating into Continental France; the latter could hardly abdicate her prestige in the eyes of Far East Oriental.

M. Jules Ferry presided at a banquet of his party on Saturday last, in Montmartre, the once stronghold of M. Clemenceau, and now viewed as the bivouac of Boulangism. The police authorities had to take extensive measures to protect Senator Ferry from an organized aggression. He spoke eloquently, and his bearing as ever was fearless. He had for aim, to unite all shades of republicanism into one stalwart party. I fear he is not the chief to effect that desirable union. The Radicals officially declare they will never work in with him; and the Catholics detest him, on account of his expulsion of the "religieux." All his efforts have been rewarded only by a fresh explosion of hate, and a renewed display of unpopularity.

The First of May, to all appearances, will see on the coming occasion the Labor classes abroad in their thousands. The authorities will not permit any processioning or massing in the streets; and unmistakably assert, that while the working classes may procession in the cities of London, New York, Brussels, etc., such a liberty could not be accorded to French workmen without grave danger; they would not march, but revolutionize. In any case the "manifestants" do not consider their psychological moment has arrived yet. They are being organized to sink differences and to abolish individual schools; to demand eight hours a day for labor, and a fixation for minimum rate of wage; to save up to be able to support a six or eight weeks planned cosmopolitan strike, and by that one blow bring society to its knees and abolish capitalists. The moment labor is really united, no menace of what it can accomplish or will execute would be necessary.

M. Edward Drumont, in his "Testament d'un Antisemite" just published, devotes his present attack to the Church. He is already well known for his poundings of the Israelites, and will in due course attend to the judicial bench, the press, the aristocracy, etc. His charge against the Catholic Clergy—or rather the episcopal bench—is that when a bishopric is vacant, candidates for the vacancy rush to the antechroom of every public man that may have influence with the Government—Senators, Deputies, functionaries—no matter whether these be free-thinkers, atheists or freemasons. And when they become elevated to the episcopal bench they react by positively tyrannizing over their clergy, who must obey even the shake of an episcopal finger, a nod, or a look. This situation, concludes the author, will undermine the influence and the status of the clergy. He is not complimentary to Cardinal Lavigerie. Perhaps it is the audacity of his personal attacks that secures notoriety for the author.

But very little interest is taken in the Bonaparte question. The curiosity is merely to know the contents of the late Prince Napoleon's will—the political, not the personal contents. Has the elder son, Victor, been cut off and banned in favour of the junior son, Louis? And has the latter—still absent—been "jockeyed" by the family; will he resign pelf and politics in favour of his brother; or will he start on his own account as the sole orthodox 'Napoleon?' It is expected that his uncle, the King of Italy, will talk him into submission to his elder brother.

The Duc d'Orleans is serving as a Turk's Head to caricaturists and smart journalists, to represent the heir-apparent to Orleanism as leading a very fast and scampish life, running after actresses, and smuggling himself into Paris to indulge illicit passions. One day he is at London, the next at St. Petersburg, the following day at Tiflis, and at last in Paris, by a winking of the authorities at his rakish pranks. Fortunately for the rival prince-pretenders the public takes no interest in their movements.

The literary battle over the authenticity of the Talleyrand "Memoires" waxes fiercer and fiercer. It is killing the sale of the book. The issue is not to know, have the Memoirs been doctored, but to what extent. There are so many childish blunders respecting dates and the actions of public men; the style is so broken by interlardings and suppressions; the original documents have gone through so many hands, whose integrity is questioned, with proofs in support; the excisions are so favourable to certain public men, and the suppressions so convenient for others, that the work is valueless and damned. Talleyrand was educated during a period when libertines, duplicity and hypocrisy dominated; when there was little faith abroad, and less manners. He tells us his aim was "to do exactly as everybody else did." In presence of the doubtful records and suspicious passages in the 'Memoires,' the Duc de Broglie is, being the editor of them, called on to explain. He replies that he has published the copies of the original notes, as they were leagued to him, and that he has made no alterations. What the public demands of the Duke is, how can he guarantee the copy to be genuine if he has not examined the original documents. Are the latter, or any portion of them, forthcoming? If they are not destroyed, allow the public to inspect them. If they have been Burked, then the "Memoires" are, at best, only an apocalyse.

MONTEVIDEO.

(From the "Uruguay News.")

We understand that a representative of Baring Brothers, Mr. A. Bowden Smith, has arrived here, on a special commission from that important house.

Mr. F. A. Lanza writes to say, that the weather during his journey from Lisbon to London was very bad. On his arrival at Southampton he found the Isle of Wight covered with snow. In London there was a very heavy snow storm. He also says that he heard the co'd in the United States was very intense. Mr. Lanza proposed sailing by one of the White Star Line for New York on the 25th March.

The dance given by Captain Musgrave on Tuesday last on board his vessel, the H. M. S. Cleopatra, was a very enjoyable affair. The ladies say the deck was lovely to dance on—the vessel was very prettily decorated and the music for dancing could not have been better. The invited guests were charmed with the attention of the gallant captain and officers, and only hope for another dance before they depart for the Dark Continent.

Mrs. Henry Yarrow and her son, Mr. Willie Yarrow, arrived this week from England, after an absence of three years.

We observed the other morning, on passing the old English Cemetery, that the authorities had started cutting down the trees fronting the Calle 18 de Julio. We believe the Municipality intend making use of the ground as a deposit for stone.

A very pleasant party took place on Wednesday evening at Mr. Harvey's residence. The host and hostess received the guests with their usual hospitality.

We notice in the Bullionist, of March 21st, 1891, the following paragraph, referring to Montevideo:

"It seems that the Birmingham Mint is to be entrusted with the coinage of the new currency for the National Bank as soon as the money for the bullion is forthcoming."

We hear Mr. James Farrell will sail for England by the P. S. N. Co.'s Britannia on the 12th of next month for a holiday.

We regret to hear that the popular and well known officers and crew of the U. S. S. Tallapoosa may probably return to the United States before very long.

All their innumerable friends in Montevideo and Buenos Ayres will regret their departure. Although they themselves may be glad to return to their own native land, with which natural sentiment we entirely sympathise, yet those left behind will miss them much. We hope they will have a successful passage home, they knowing that the best wishes of the English community in Montevideo are with them.

The general manager, Mr. J. F. Roberts, reporting on the working for the past half-year, says:—

"I now submit a report on the working of the railway for the half year ended 31st December last.

"We have given great attention to the improvement of the passenger service, and have arranged with the Central Argentine Company to run trains in combination for the traffic to Cordoba and the upper provinces, with satisfactory results.

"Our traffic generally has suffered considerably from the severe crisis through which the country is passing, but it is to be hoped that we shall soon see an end of it.

"We have carried 410,087 tons goods for which we have received £164,432.

"The quantity of wool carried, 13,060 tons, has not come up to my expectations, but this is partly due to the great mortality among sheep in the winter of 1889.

"Cereals represent our chief business, and we have carried during the half-year 163,797 tons. The wheat crop has turned out an abundant one.

"Animals.—We are carrying a fair number of sheep at remunerative rates; but the transport of cattle has been quite neglected in the past, and I am now trying to work the business up with every hope of success.

"General Goods.—This valuable traffic has suffered from the high premium we are obliged to charge on the currency rates, and will, I hope, shew a considerable improvement when affairs become more settled.

"Working expenses for the past half-year were heavy. Coal is a very large item, and cost us to begin with $13 to $14 gold per ton; since we began to ship direct the cost has not exceeded $9 to $10.

"The plans of a new station at the 'Once' (Buenos Ayres Terminus) are being prepared.

"The renewal of the main line to Lujan, is being effected as fast as possible with hardwood sleepers, and 68 lb. steel rails, of which latter a stock of about 12 miles was taken over with the line. A supply of 70 lb. steel rails has been ordered from England.

"The line from 9 de Julio to Trenquelauquen, 112 miles, has been finished as far as the permanent way is concerned, but the station buildings, engine sheds, &c., are still incomplete.

"The whole of the line is fenced except about 56 miles, from Pehuajó to Trenquelauquen, and this is now being done.

"A suggested extension from Bragado to Lincoln, about 66 miles, is now being surveyed, and if this branch can be made it will prove a most valuable feeder, as it passes through a good and fertile country well suited to agriculture, and will tap the Lincoln district, which is one of the most flourishing in the province.

GENERAL REMARKS.

"When it is considered that we are passing through such a crisis as the country never before experienced, the results of the first six months of our working shew pretty clearly what the line is capable of.

"Notwithstanding all our drawbacks I have every confidence in the future.

"I have great pleasure in reporting that the officers and staff generally have assisted me in every way."

The net profits of the half-year, after providing for all prior charges, 'vide' page 5, amount to £60,888, and would have been considerably more had it been possible to introduce the present improved system of working during the first three months of the period; but the Board do not propose to make any distribution of dividend until the completion of the financial year, ending on the 30th June, next.

In providing for the local direction and management of the railway the Board have been especially fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Santiago Brian as legal representative of the Company, and Mr. J. Frederick Roberts, as general manager. Both are men of tact and judgment, having intimate knowledge of the country and the language, with great experience in the direction and management of railways. They have already got together an effective staff of departmental officers and general employés, and the Board look with confidence to the results of their able and zealous service.

By Order,
Geo. W. Drabble.

CINDERELLA AND THE G. SOUTHERN RN.

Mr Editor,

Would you kindly use your influence, on behalf of many youthful readers who reside on the Southern, to induce the genial manager of that Railway to grant a late local train for the series of Cinderella dances this winter.

RAILWAY ITEMS.

The representatives of the Rosario Railway have submitted to Government for approval the plans of three new stations proposed to be erected between Santiago del Estero and Tucuman at kil. 466, 588 and 596.953 on the Sunchales—Tucuman extension. These stations will be used for passenger traffic, and will likewise be provided with sidings leading to various stores, warehouses, factories and other establishments in the vicinity, the owners of which have generally expressed the hope that these works will be constructed as soon as possible, so as to be in full working order before the next harvest.

The Government has authorised the Fives Lille Company, the concession aires of the San Cristobal-Tucuman line, to open the first section between San Cristobal and Fortin Inca (about 165 ks.) to public service.

Sr. R. Walter has been appointed 2nd-class engineer, and Sr. Nicolas Nocetti technical sub-inspector in the Guaranteed Railways Inspection Department.

The Public Works' Department has asked that the post of engineer on the Central Northern Extension and branches be declared vacant, as there is no further need for the engineer's services there.

The Bahia Blanca North Western is approaching completion as far as Huncal, a most important centre. This section will no doubt be shortly opened to the public, thus giving the advantages of railway communication to a large and flourishing district.

A petition, numerously signed by farmers and factors in the Rosario district of and province of Cordoba generally has been presented to the Manager of the Central Argentine. The document points out the great inconvenience and damage done to business by the recent increase of 40 per cent on freight of alfalfa, as the custom is to sell same with free delivery in Rosario or B. Ayres; very many contracts are in existence to this effect, with the freight calculated on the old scale; consequently, with the increase of charges, not only does the profit disappear, but the vendors incur an actual loss on each transaction. The prayer of the petition is that the Company should continue the old scale until the end of the present harvest. This sounds reasonable, and we hope that the Company will see their way clear to comply with this request.

CONGRESS.

The Deputies met yesterday at 3 p.m. in preliminary session, 48 being present.

The Secretary announced that, the President's term of office having expired, the chair should be taken by the oldest Deputy present; Sr. Ovidio Lagos therefore took the Chair.

Voting then took place for the offices of President and 1st and 2nd Vice Presidents of the Chamber, Dr. Benjamin Zorrilla being elected President, Dr. Gilbert 1st Vice and Dr. Gmo. Torres 2nd Vice President.

It was resolved to communicate the result of the election to the Executive according to custom.

The Senate will meet to-day with a similar object, as there is now a quorum of members in town.

SUMMARY OF 30 YEARS.

Many of our readers being desirous to send copies of the paper with this summary to friends in Europe we shall print to-morrow some hundreds of extra copies (it being the Packet Edition) containing the summary in question, and also the Statistical Summary that appears to-day.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The great news of the day was the long-threatened resignation of General Roca as Minister of the Interior. Though fully expected, it involves a most important change in the Cabinet. The General's resignation is worded in a laconic manner, calling attention to the dark clouds that loomed over the horizon when he accepted the post-folio and the change for the better that has taken place now that he abandons the Government. The President of the Republic accepted the resignation, thanked General Roca for his services to the country, and signed a decree appointing Sr. Zapata, Senator for Mendoza, to fill the vacant post in the Cabinet.

Dr. Benjamin Zorrilla was appointed Chairman of the Deputies in Congress yesterday. The provincial paper-money party made a great push to get in their own man, but failed signally. The Senate will meet to-day, and it is probable that Senator Derqui will be appointed to the Chairmanship he held so successfully last session.

The Gold Eagle plumed his wings and soared up again yesterday, at which the poor public groaned vigorously in spirit. Nothing certain was known as to when Congress will make its debut, probably on Monday.

Governor Costa opened the La Plata Chambers yesterday with a long and vigorous Message, which we must hold for our next issue. Its key-note is that the Provincial Bank must be saved at all hazards.

We had yesterday the great pleasure of shaking hands with some of the oldest friends of the STANDARD. We had also many letters of congratulation, for which we have to express our warmest thanks. Among them is one from Gen. Mansilla, of a classical and Shakespearian tone, for the General is quite at home in our literature. The visitors who crowded our office comprised gentlemen of various nationalities. We have to thank Messrs. Bagley for a present of Hesperidina and biscuits.

We call the attention of our Anglican readers to the announcement that the collection at St. John's Church next Sunday will be devoted to the expenses of the annual pic-nic of the choir and Sunday school; an object that we doubt not will deservedly meet with a generous support.

We remind our readers of the entertainment in aid of the San Martin Church to be held to-morrow evening at 8.15 in the saloon of the Municipality of San Martin. A novelty in the shape of dissolving views will be introduced and some of the views are real works of art, those of the Paris Exhibition, London and Rome being especially good. The comic scenes baffle description and are real side-splitters.

The Socialist meeting in Plaza Victoria amounted to nothing. A number of citizens were hanging about the Plaza half the day; but the police would not allow any eloquence, so the whole thing ended in smoke.

M Hamonet, the well-known proprietor of the "Buen Jardinero", in Calle Florida, blew his brains out yesterday mornihg, seated in his shop. The embarrassed state of his affairs was the cause of the sad tragedy. The greatest sympathy is felt for his family, with whom we sincerely condole. The unfortunate gentleman was held in the very highest esteem by all who knew him.

The St. John's Sunday School Picnic is to de held on the 7th inst. at the Convalescent Home Sunnyside. Train leaves Plaza Consftiucion at 10.35 a.m. to Llavallol. Returns at 6.19 p.m. arriving at Plaza at 7.5 p.m. Parents and friends are invited to send hampers to St. John's school room up to Wednesday 8 p.m.

The whole population is disgusted at the tame-cat fashion in which the National Bank meeting passed off. Everybody expected that the indignant shareholders would have raised a rousing row, but they all sat with their tails between their legs, as mute as mice. However, something lively may be expected when the Committee of Auditors report on the accounts. And what accounts!

The Battalion of Orphan Boys who figure at Patriotic Fetes now and then, are in a state of indignant alarm at the proposal made by some busybody to take their miniature arms from them, and bestow the weapons on young gentlemen of higher degree whose papas can very well afford to pay for the toys. The Orphans have petitioned the Minister of Education not to allow them to be deprieved of their playthings, and Dr. Carballido should certainly accede to their request.

Quite a lot of Congressmen arrived yesterday from the Interior and were met at the Central Station by most of their brother law-botchers already in town. When the first moments of "espansion efusiva" had passed, and the hugging and back-slapping was got through, the conversation plunged deep into the Banking Crisis, and, as the newly arrived legislators made for the hackney coaches, nothing was heard but the words "Banco Unico," "emision, por supuesto, hombre;" "dos cientos millones;" "Banco Nacional;" "caramba, muy guapos los Ingleses;" "Viva la Patria," etc., etc., etc.

That precious customer "Juan Moreira" filled the Florida Garden to overflowing on Thursday night with a rather mixtum-gatherum audience. No wonder there are such crimes as those at Banfield when such pieces draw crowds.

A very level performance of "Donna Juanita," which in the judgment of many is one of the most melodious comic operas ever written, was given at the Politeama on Thursday. Prominent amongst the men stood Sgri. Monteverde and Ottonello, but, as usual, the success of the evening was achieved by Sra. Anita Pavan in the title role; this artiste, who made her re-appearance after a retirement of nearly a year, was quite in her old form, and made all her old points in this attractive character. Artistes of the new school should study this lady's method, and notice how a pronouncedly vivacious and animated style is never allowed to degenerate into vulgarity.

The Binghamton Republican says,—"The less a man knows, the more he finds fault with other people." This is an excellent maxim to cut out and send to the editor who returns your poems.

There is a split in the Spiritualist camp in this city, as one of the members has been caught turning too many dollars out of the shades of all the doctors, from Galen to Sir Astley Cooper and Ricord. As usual in all countries in times of public trial and suffering, the dupes of this kind of business have grown considerably in number here of late.
